

Points to Keep in Mind When Preparing an Application Form for Candidates (Fellows)

1. Application forms come in two types: FORM 1 and 2. They can be downloaded from JSPS's website (http://www.jsp.go.jp/english/e-fellow/postdoctoral_pup.html).
2. These forms are certified by JSPS. Be sure NOT to alter size or format (except size and font of characters) of the forms, or to plagiarize the contents of other host researchers. Incomplete, altered or otherwise flawed applications will be rejected. JSPS may withdraw the fellowship, stop allowances (including that for air tickets), or request the return of money already paid if the fellowship has been awarded on the basis of false statements in the application form.
3. Foreign candidates are required to fill out FORM 2 in either English or Japanese. The form should be printed out on both sides of each sheet of paper, for a total of three sheets (six pages front and back). If your printer does not have this function, print out all the pages on one side, and copy the pages back-on-back so to compile them into three sheets. Then, sign the form on its last page, and submit it to your host researcher, who is required to fill out FORM 1.

Note:

- Image data of the candidate's signature pasted on the form is acceptable.

4. Candidates should prepare one letter of recommendation from their PhD dissertation advisor or other supervisory faculty member and attach it to their FORM 2.

Note:

- One letter of recommendation written by one person can be attached. If the candidate has two or more letters, please choose one.
- As a rule, the letter should be addressed to either candidate's prospective host researcher or to the president of the Japan Society of the Promotion of Science.
- Submit the original of the signed letter. (Image data of recommender's signature is acceptable.)
- The letter should be written in English or Japanese. If another language is used, be sure to provide a translation in either English or Japanese.
- The letter, including the translation, should be no longer than two A-4 size sheets (up to four pages front and back).
- The letter may not be prepared by the prospective host researcher him/herself. If the prospective host researcher was the candidate's PhD advisor or supervisor, then another faculty member, such as one who participated in the candidate's dissertation reviewed and/or who is familiar with the candidate's research, should be asked to prepare this letter of recommendation.

5. The host researcher should fill out FORM 1 and submit it together with the candidate's FORM 2 and the attached letter of recommendation to his/her institution's administration office. In this program, the applicant is the head of the host institution.

Note:

- If the host researcher is a foreign researcher and unable to write that much Japanese, a Japanese officer of the host institution may fill out the form as long as the host fully understands and agrees to the content of the application.
- JSPS receives the application via the host institution's administrative office. It will not accept applications submitted directly by the host researcher or candidate.

6. The application submission periods for the host institution's administrative office are as follows:

Arrive by 1 - 5 September 2014

Note:

- As these application periods are for the host institution, host researchers should submit their applications to the administrative office well in advance of them.
- Candidates should check with their host researcher or institution as to the institution's application periods.

Reference: Certificate of PhD degree

Only successful candidates are required to provide a doctoral degree certificate or a copy their diploma to JSPS via their host institution. It is not necessary to attach it to the application.

【Submission Deadlines】

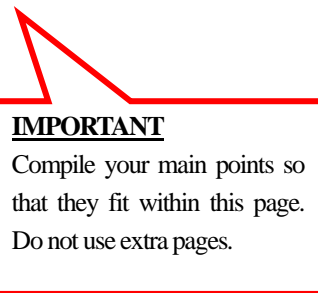

Host institutions are to submit the below-mentioned documents to JSPS by the following deadlines.

- For candidates who have a PhD degree: Within 60 days of the date on their award letter and no later than one day before their arrival in Japan to start the fellowship.
- For candidates who have not yet received a PhD degree: As a rule, no later than one day before their arrival in Japan to start the fellowship.

【Items Requiring Confirmation】 (When possible, confirmation should be made at time of application.)

With regard to the candidate's doctoral degree certificate or diploma (copy), the following points should be confirmed by the host institution:

- Whether candidates will have received their degree by the date that the fellowship will start. (Check date of certificate/diploma)
- If the certificate or diploma is written in a language (including Chinese) other than Japanese or English, a Japanese or English translation must be attached.
- MD (Medical Doctor) degree holders without a PhD degree are ineligible.
- As a rule, provisional certificates are not accepted. As, however, various countries have different ways of certifying doctoral degrees, there may be cases when a different format is judged equivalent to a PhD certificate or diploma. In such cases, the reason for the difference should be clarified and JSPS contacted in advance of submission.
- If the date the degree was received should fall after the starting date of the fellowship, the fellowship will be withdrawn. If it is discovered after the fellowship begins that the degree was received after the starting date, the fellowship will be cancelled retroactively to the starting date, and all allowances received must be returned to JSPS. For related procedures, host institutions should contact JSPS in advance.
