

Global Common Project

Our Global Common Project is to establish an “Intellectual Global Common”, where people from all over the world can gather to advance research and education. We will form a foundation for transmitting Japanese culture, technology and intellectual property to the world. Under the educational policy of “strengthening the individual,” we will develop our students’ ability to play an active role in international society, in multinational environments. Through these efforts, we will contribute to the sustainable growth and prosperity of the world. Under this scheme, we aim to accept 4,000 students from abroad and send 1,500 students into the world by the academic year 2020. Taking advantage of this project, Meiji University will move forward to become more internationalized and further improve its quality of research and education to become one of the world’s top universities.

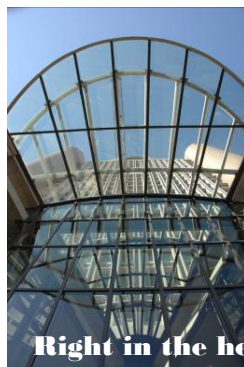

130 YEARS OF TRADITION

1. Degree Programs in English

We plan to set up four degree programs in English;

- 1) The Graduate School of Governance Studies
- 2) The Institute for Advanced Study of Mathematical Sciences (MIMS)
- 3) The Graduate School of Business Administration
- 4) The School of Global Japanese Studies

On the basis of excellent research qualified as a COE program, MIMS will focus on drawing excellent researchers and graduate students from around the world. Governance Studies will draw government officials from emerging countries to help establish a solid system of governance in their countries and educate their human resources.

Right in the heart of metropolitan Tokyo

We will raise the ratio of English native lecturers who have excellent research achievements, from the current 5.2% to 10.0% by the academic year 2032.

2. Cool Japan Program

The School of Global Japanese Studies has set up provides the “Cool Japan Program”, which covers subjects related to Japan’s culture, technology and social system. We will provide this program to international students on our short-term program. In order to improve the Japanese language ability of these students, we will promote their Japanese language acquisition through the courses.

3. Total Solution System

We will offer a total solution system, which provides care from entry to completion to our international students. We will provide full high-quality support for them through collaboration with business partners; online application system; conducting TV interviews at our overseas office; admitting foreign applicants from their countries; housing; counseling; internships. We will extend job placement support via the global career development council, which includes Meiji University Alumni members.

Expanding Academic network In regards to the international academic network, Meiji University is already playing a key role as chair for the Franco-Japanese college doctoral program and the Japan-Canada Strategic Student Exchange Program. We will proceed on working to enhance closer cooperation with prominent overseas universities, through participation in networks such as the Erasmus Mundus program.
