

International Collaboration Programs

“Review Section Table”

(Applied to application screening from the FY2024 recruitment)

Review Section Table differs from that of the program Grants-in-Aid for Scientific Research (KAKENHI).

In the Table, the “Panel Review Sections” are used to conduct the panel reviews of grant applications under JSPS’s international collaboration programs. The “Document Review Sections” are used to conduct the document reviews of grant applications. Each document review section comprises a set of basic sections. Within the parameters of each document review section are listed plural basic sections. When preparing a grant application, if your project contains content other than that specified in the document review sections, it may be included in your application.

“Document Review Sets” are provided to effectively carry out relative evaluations when doing document reviews in various international collaboration programs. Separate sets of combined document review sections and basic sections are established for each program. For reference, please see “Document Review Set” under the program that you are applying for.
