1. Outline

Name of project
Japan’s World-Class Liberal Arts University

Future vision of the university planned in TGU project
AIU will evolve from a domestic institution to a world-class liberal arts college over the next 10 years. AIU aims to establish a liberal arts education model that is commensurate with the world standard and to represent Japan on a global scale. Through four new initiatives; (1) Promotion of around-the-clock liberal arts education, (2) Enrichment of world-standard curriculums, (3) Facilitation of English education reform in Japan, and (4) Global benchmarking, AIU also aims to foster persons that are successful on a global scale but are based in Japan.

Summary of Project
Since its foundation in 2004, AIU has been taking innovative measures such as offering all classes in English, making one-year study abroad mandatory, and requiring all 1st-year students to live on campus. In addition, AIU will undertake four new projects to promote improvement of the environment to strive further to become a world-class liberal arts college.

1. Promotion of around-the-clock liberal arts education
   - Introduce subject-based housing groups to transform student dormitories from “living dormitories” into “learning dormitories” and internalize active learning by the students.

2. Enrichment of world-standard curriculums
   - Make the curriculum more on par with the world standard by expanding Japan studies courses offered at AIU, introducing flipped classrooms, promoting partners’ programs and internationally collaborative PBL programs.

3. Facilitation of English education reform in Japan
   - Use the empirical knowledge accumulated by AIU to give back to society.

4. Global benchmarking
   - Compare AIU’s initiatives with those of other top liberal arts colleges around the world and examine the differences in an objective manner.

Promotion of around-the-clock liberal arts education
In AY2014, AIU recruited students who wanted to move into the subject-based houses; educational programs at the houses will start from AY2015. New students will be recruited every semester, and possible program modifications based on the result of surveys and evaluation to improve the operation of the houses will be examined each semester. By AY2020, student led autonomous operation of the houses will be encouraged and activities with students who are living in similar subject-based houses at other universities will be held. In AY2023, AIU will create a database of the subject-based house project from the past 10 years and write the report.

Enrichment of world-standard curriculums
In AY2014, AIU recruited Japan studies faculty and IT staff from across the world to prepare for the establishment of the Japan Studies Center and ICT Learning Studio in AY2015. In AY2016, flipped-classroom style MOOCs will be introduced, partners’ programs with partner universities will be promoted and internationally collaborative PBL programs will be offered. AIU will prepare an interim report in AY2017, and start modifying the curriculums and courses in line with the world standard from AY2018, and will examine the results of the modification of the curriculum and courses and revise the academic affairs system in AY2023.

Facilitation of English education reform in Japan
AIU will begin offering English Village (study sessions for elementary, junior high school and high school students) regularly in AY2014 and Teachers’ Seminar (training sessions for elementary, junior high school and high school teachers) in AY2015.

Global benchmarking
In AY2014, AIU launched a joint working group to conduct comparative surveys and create a survey plan with the U.S. universities with which it will be conducting global benchmarking. Preliminary surveys and on-site surveys will be conducted in AY2015, results analyzed, the interim report on the results prepared and presented at faculty development sessions and workshops. Additional benchmarking partner schools will be sought in AY2018, with another interim report prepared by AY2020 and analyzed in AY2021. The final report on the global benchmarking and symposium will be prepared in AY2023.

Featured initiatives (Internationalization, University reform, Education reform)

Promotion of around-the-clock liberal arts education
- Shift student dormitories from “living dormitories” into “learning dormitories” by introducing subject-based “houses” to expand students’ learning space from the university classrooms into the living space in the student dormitories. In each house, international and Japanese students live together and work on common subjects as a team to promote liberal arts education that will enable students to acquire essential skills and competencies to become effective global persons (e.g., habituated active learning through the discovery of the joy and importance of learning, collaborative work skills, leadership, self-discipline and manners).

Enrichment of world-standard curriculums
- AIU requires all students to study abroad in their 3rd year and invites the same number of international students from overseas partner schools in their place. To continue the exchange program, AIU will introduce four new initiatives to create the curriculums that meet world standards and are compatible at a global level.
  1. Expansion and improvement of Japan studies courses offered at AIU
  2. Raising the level of courses taught at AIU to the world standard and transmitting lectures to the rest of Japan and the world through MOOCs and the introduction of flipped classrooms
  3. Promotion of internationally collaborative PBL programs with partner universities in ASEAN countries
  4. Promotion of partners’ programs (co-developed Japan studies programs with partner universities)

Facilitation of English education reform in Japan
- Improve the quality of English education offered at elementary and secondary schools and promote the development of global human resources by sharing AIU’s knowledge on practical English learning/teaching methods it has accumulated over the years with the students and teachers of elementary and secondary schools in Akita Prefecture and beyond. Offer primarily student-led English Village for elementary and secondary school students, and offer Teachers’ Seminar by AIU faculty members as recurrent education for elementary and junior high school teachers.

Global benchmarking
- Conduct global benchmarking and participate in the Collegiate Learning Assessment (CLA) in order to examine whether the actual level of the international liberal arts education being provided by AIU clearly meets the world standard.
Common indicators and targets

Internationalization

- Increase the number of study-abroad partner schools to 200, in 50 countries/regions.
  AIU has 174 partner institutions in 46 countries/regions as of May 15, 2015.

- Expand AIU’s own scholarship program to support students’ study abroad.
  “Scholarship for Study Abroad” is available for students whose cumulative GPA is 3.80 or above at the time of application for study abroad. Also, “AIU-Asahi Kasei Corporation Scholarship” is available for one-year study abroad.

- Increase the ratio of the students whose English proficiency test score at graduation is at least 900 on the TOEIC (or equivalent) to 75%
  64 AIU students among 165 who graduated in AY2014 obtained a score of 900 or higher on the TOEIC or equivalent. (The ratio is 38.8%)

- Strengthen the linkage between the academic affairs system and the educational quality assurance system.
  During the global benchmarking in AY2015, AIU will compare itself to other universities in terms of the course code system and its meaning, syllabus, course contents, quality and quantity of assignments, level of difficulty, targeted level of achievement, and the method of examining the consistency between the course codes and the level of the courses, etc. Also, AIU will compare data on grade distribution, student performance evaluation policies, ways to use the GPA system, etc., with top liberal arts colleges in the U.S.

- Increase collaborative learning opportunities between international and Japanese students in campus housing
  Japanese and international students live together in subject-based Japanese arts and culture house. The house provides a collaborative and active learning environment so that the students can work on developing activities at the house as a group.

University reform

- Reform the performance evaluation system based on improvement points identified during global benchmarking.
  The working group continues to analyze the performance management system of U.S. liberal arts colleges in order to introduce and leverage globally compatible performance evaluation systems.

- Strengthen the bottom-up framework by which the members of the AIU community may propose university policies in addition to the top-down decision making process.
  Under the leadership of the president, designated faculty members coordinate each program and designated administration teams support the program for AIU’s TGU project.

Education reform

- In conjunction with AIU’s unique initiative (around-the-clock liberal arts education), develop a culture of active learning to carry out university reform in which students can also participate.
  The subject-based house provides active learning environment for students to actively propose and enact their own ideas.

- Proactively use external examinations including the International Baccalaureate.
  Out of 16 types of entrance exams given by AIU, eleven recognize external examinations (TOEFL iBT, TOEFL PBT, TOEIC, STEP, UNATE, Cambridge ESOL) as one of the application requirements, and five recognize the International Baccalaureate. Since AY2014, AIU has changed the names of the “AO/High School Study Abroad Student Exam I and II” to the “AO/IB/High School Study Abroad Student Exam I and II,” respectively, by adding “IB” to each. Through the name change, AIU is actively publicizing the International Baccalaureate to the high school students, teachers and staffs.

- In view of further diversification of student needs, develop flexible academic paths in collaboration with other universities.
  The global benchmarking working group continues to gather information from U.S. liberal arts colleges concerning academic paths and analyze and compare them for improvements as needed.

University reform

- Reinforcement of student support based on areas identified during global benchmarking.
  Based on the results of the third international benchmarking project, conducted in AY2019 on the theme of student support, AIU defined the roles and cooperation responsibilities of faculty and staff members in identifying and responding to to students’ issues and created a response chart according to students’ risk levels then distributed this revised system within the university through FD etc., to enrich student support.

- Strengthen the bottom-up framework by which members of the AIU community may propose university policies in addition to the top-down decision making process.
  Under the leadership of the president, designated faculty members coordinate each project, and young faculty members and students are also involved in the activities.

Education reform

- In addition to AIU’s unique initiative for an “around-the-clock liberal arts education” its aim is to also develop a culture of active learning and carry out university reform in which students can also participate in.
  - Although the students were not able to live together in Subject-based houses on campus in AY2021, HRs (House Representatives) and Tutors assigned to each Subject-based House led members of the houses as they planned and executed online activities with originality and ingenuity, which promoted spontaneity, proactiveness, and cooperativeness. As a result, a student-centered learning community was fostered.
  - Students proactively participated in the reorganization of the English Village into an online version following the discontinuation of the face-to-face program and in operation of a new cross-cultural education program launched in AY 2020, and acquired independence, negotiation skills, and communication skills.

- Establishment of new cross-disciplinary fields of study and introduction of “Applied International Liberal Arts.”
  In April 2021, AIU reorganized its educational curriculum under one faculty and department, and established the “Global Connectivity Program” where students learn about humanity and AI/advanced technology in the same field. AIU simultaneously introduced a new educational method, “Applied International Liberal Arts (AILA)” to consolidate learning through practice, such as PBL, and internships, and to strengthen both integrated knowledge and human skills.

Featured initiatives based on the characteristics of the university

Promotion of “around-the-clock liberal arts education” by further integrating learning and living.
In the Komachi House, promoted cross-cultural understanding and the acquisition of critical thinking and insight skills through online movie viewing sessions based on specific themes. In the Subject-Based Houses for second-year and later students, the results of activities throughout the year were presented on an online bulletin board, which led to awareness and a sense of unity among the participants, and the efforts were widely disseminated outside the university.

Enrichment of world-standard curriculums. Coordinate with partner universities to offer curriculums that are more equivalent to and mutually complementary with each other.
The Japan Studies Center strengthened Japan Study courses including new course offerings. AIU promoted international standardization of curricula, through enhancing science classes, conducting flipped classes using MOOCs provided by world top universities or companies, implementing separate Collaborative Online Learning (COIL) with partner schools in the U.S., Malaysia and Russia, as well as an online intermediate-advanced Japanese language program with the Australian National University, Nanjing University, and the University of Canterbury.

Lead development of English education being offered at elementary and secondary schools in Japan through the English Village and Teachers' Seminar activities.
- Canceled the in-person English Village and restructured it into an online version, which was held 22 times for individual schools (716 participants). In addition, an online cross-cultural education program for elementary school students was conducted, utilizing the know-how of the English Village, with 16 participants from all over Japan.
- Offered a Teachers' Seminar program in AY2021 (40 participants). Provided 18 programs utilizing tips from TS seminar papers, and established a system to improve writing skills by deepening understanding in stages.

Assurance of globally competitive quality of curriculums offered by AIU through global benchmarking.
Along with the implementation of the new curriculum and new educational methods in 2021, a common understanding among faculty members was promoted through discussions and FD regarding the nature of advising and course models based on the results of global benchmarking.
