2. FY2014 Progress

■ Common indicators and targets

Internationalization

Increase Diversity in Faculty and Staff Members
In the academic year 2014-15, 57.0% of Rikkyo University’s faculty members and 9.6% of staff members were reported to be foreign nationals. Especially in the selection of new faculty members, the university as a whole as well as individual colleges and graduate schools have established “The Profile of Faculty Members Desired by the University and the Policy for Forming Faculty Member Organizations” and announced such profile and policy on the University’s homepage. The university has started its efforts to meet the target numbers in the near future.

Increase Diversity in Student Body
In the academic year 2014-15, international students represented 3.5% of total student body, and 4.4% of Japanese students had an overseas experience. Regarding the inter-university partnerships that could serve as the basis for student mobility, Rikkyo University signed 15 new partnership agreements with overseas institutions in the same year and the volume of student exchanges is expected to grow in the future. In the academic year 2015-16, several colleges, including Business, Intercultural Communication and Sociology, participated in international conferences such as NAFA. Rikkyo University has been actively networking with overseas partner institutions and engaging in more international collaborations.

Improve Students’ English Language Proficiency
In 2014, 6.1% of students had English proficiency that is the equivalent of TOEIC score of 730, TOEFL iBT score of 79, or IELTS score of 6.0. In the same academic year, Rikkyo University made the existing English Proficiency Advancement Test by using TOEIC free-of-charge and built the system to assist the students’ willful and active participation in English language education. As a result, the number of upperclass students who took the test in December was increased from 909 to 1,649 (the increase of 80%) compared to the previous academic year. Moreover, in the April 2015 testing, 1,898 students (13.9% of students in their second to fourth years), took part in the test. In addition, the College of Business held its 12th commendation ceremony of TOEIC Club 900, the group of the students who scored 900 or above in TOEIC exam, and 33 students received the honor.

University reform

Develop the Skills of Administrators
Starting in 2014, Rikkyo University commenced a new short-term overseas training program for staff members in addition to its previously existing overseas language training. In the overseas training program, administrative staff members first participate in a preparatory course on campus (focusing on office English), then attend an intensive off-campus training program in Japan, and finally visit overseas partner institutions to exchange ideas and opinions with staff members at various departments of host universities, including student affairs, international relations and chief administrative office. In the academic year 2014-15, 10 staff members participated in the overseas training program, and in the academic year 2015-16, 6 administrators are currently receiving the training.

Facilitate Swift Decision-Making
In April 2015, the Organization for Global Initiatives (OGI) was established as a key administrative unit in the University’s international advancement in order to make swift decisions on enhancing and implementing international cooperation in education and research as well as student mobility. The OGI incorporates the three existing departments, including International Office, Center for Japanese Language Education, and Center for Global Human Resource Development, and intends to strengthen the coordination among the departments. Furthermore, the Vice President for International Advancement serves as the director of the OGI, and supervises the organization in coordination with university-wide policies. The administrative office of each existing center will be unified under the OGI. The OGI is responsible for the planning of the University Council for International Advancement and also the overall operation of Top Global University Project initiatives as well as tracking of each initiative’s progress.

Education reform

Improve the Quality of Education and Developing Programs for Independent Learning
Many of Rikkyo University’s curricular and extra-curricular programs feature active learning, including the Global Leadership Program (GLP), the Rikkyo Service Learning Program, overseas internships, and the United Nations Youth Volunteer Program. The GLP is consisted of five sequential classes, ranging from GL101 to GL302 for the purpose of enabling students to acquire the type of leadership that can endure in any kind of trying situation. Since 2014, the English-taught GL202 classes started to be offered and the advance-level classes GL301 and GL302 were introduced in 2015 to complete the systematic learning program. In GL301, it is planned to offer the academic program that provides the opportunity with the students to perform their leadership skills abroad. In order to encourage the student’s participation in the program, the introduction of the Rikkyo GLP Scholarship has also been planned.

New Admission Procedure for General Entrance Examination
Starting in the academic year 2016-17, the new university-wide admission procedure will be introduced. Instead of the conventional English test, the score of standardized English proficiency tests (such as GTEC CBT, TEAP, TOEFL and IELTS) will be used to evaluate the applicants’ English proficiency in the four skill areas of listening, speaking, reading, and writing. The paper tests will be conducted in two subjects. Rikkyo University decided to introduce the new type of admission in 2014 and has been planning the procedure at the moment.
University's own indicators and targets

The Number of Contact Hours in an Intercultural Environment per Student

Rikkyo University has introduced a Global Consciousness Index (GCI) as an indicator to measure a student’s conscious effort to immerse oneself in an intercultural environment. GCI is projected by calculating the total number of hours the students spend in the University’s intercultural facilities per year, including the hours of residency at the international dormitories, the hours spent by the visitors to the Global Lounge as well as the total length of time spent overseas in study abroad programs. In 2014, the average hours spent in an intercultural environment was 68 hours per student. In the same year, Rikkyo University opened the Global Lounge in Ikebukuro and Niza campuses, and each month the university has hosted various intercultural events such as the World Café and Country Festival. The total number of event participants at the Lounge was 620 people in Ikebukuro and 287 people in Niza during the academic year 2014-15. The university is now in the process of implementing programs to sponsor various events each month involving students’ active participation, such as photo exhibitions or event planning contests.

Response to Suggestions Made by the Advisory Committee with Foreign Nationals

The University decided to propose the solutions to all suggestions made by the Rikkyo University Advisory Committee, which members include the executives of international organizations and multinational companies as well as the consulates officials stationed in Japan by the end of the following academic year. The Global Liberal Arts Minor offers a group of subjects on the Japanese studies as Category 1, another group of subjects on that focus on acquiring broad variety of knowledge and expertise as well as developing the students’ ability to analyze as Category 2, and finally the additional group of language subjects and the English-taught subjects as Category 3. Moreover, overseas experience is regarded as one of the required components and it could count different kinds of unique experiences, including not only the curricular overseas training and study abroad program, but also extra-curricular programs and independent program designed by the students themselves, if approved by the advanced screening.

Global Liberal Arts Program (GLAP)

The Global Liberal Arts Program (GLAP) is a new interdisciplinary degree program designed to meet the diverse needs and interests of our students, to promote students diversity, and to realize a cross-college degree program by building on the academic specialties and the characteristics of Rikkyo University’s ten undergraduate colleges. Specifically, the GLAP students are not requested to choose a certain major at the time of admission and they enter the University with their major undeclared. In addition, the program enables the students to graduate by taking only English-taught courses and emphasizes the development of the students’ intercultural skills by mandating to reside in dormitories with international students and to study abroad. As GLAP is scheduled to start admitting the students in the academic year 2017-18, the University has been working to finalize the curriculum design of the program and to prepare for more active collaboration with overseas partner institutions.

- Introduction of the Rikkyo Learning Style
  Starting with the first-year students in academic year 2016, the “Rikkyo Learning Style” (Rikkyo University Integrated Undergraduate Programs) was introduced as the new system of learning for undergraduate students. In “Rikkyo Learning Style,” the undergraduate curriculum is divided into 3 phases, including “Introduction Phase,” “Formation Phase,” and “Completion Phase.” Such an approach allows each student to structure their learning so as to be able to work autonomously towards her/his own objectives. For the first-year students in 2016, the intensive first-year education program (the Rikkyo First-year Program) was provided as the core of ‘Introduction Phase’. This program was effective in helping students acquire an appropriate mindset for academic study, as well as basic academic knowledge and skills.

- Establishment of the New Educational Programs (Dual Language Pathway, TESOL-J and Global Citizenship Program)
  The University commenced multiple new educational programs in academic year 2016. In the College of Intercultural Communication, the “Dual Language Pathway (DLP)” program was started with 14 students. This program allows the students to earn the sufficient number of credits for graduation by only taking courses offered in English. The DLP students, in principle, are expected to study abroad for one academic year starting from the fall semester of the second year. In addition, the TESOL-J program in the Graduate School of Intercultural Communication and Global Citizenship Program in the College of Sociology were also started.
University's own indicators and targets

- Increase in the Use of External Standardized English Tests for Entrance Examination
  The “Global Format,” which utilizes the score of external standardized English tests that evaluate the four key competencies, was newly introduced in the entrance examination for academic year 2016. The test result for academic year 2017 shows that the Format attracted a total of 1,397 applicants, which is 3.7 times the number of the previous academic year (the number of the Global Format applicants was 374 for academic year 2016). By recognizing such a trend, the University decided to include the result of standardized English tests as part of the requirements for admission by recommendation from partner schools and affiliated schools.

- Introduction of the On-line Enrollment Procedure System
  An on-line application and enrollment system was introduced from the entrance examination for academic year 2017. The new system streamlined the procedure for applicants and made it easier for overseas applicants to submit their applications. While such a system was already available in the entrance examination for international students for academic year 2015, it attracted the largest number of international applications, with 857 applicants in the entrance examination for academic year 2017, as compared to 652 applications for academic year 2016.

Featured initiatives based on the characteristics of the university

- Preparation for the Global Liberal Arts Program (GLAP)
  The University opened the Global Liberal Arts Program Preparatory Office in academic year 2016. The Office was responsible for preparation before the opening of the Program in academic year 2017, including the revision of university regulations, the formulation of academic policies (including admission, curricular and diploma policies), the development of the program curriculum, a new dormitory (Rikkyo Global House), a new scholarship program and the relevant rules and regulations. In addition, the promotion of the program targeted at the designated high schools of “Super Global High School” program administered by the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology (MEXT) of Japan, schools offering International Baccalaureate and other international schools, the Program attracted a total of 113 applications for a little over 10 spots in two entrance examinations conducted in November 2016 and February 2017.
  Furthermore, the University invited a faculty member from Trinity College (United States), a renowned liberal arts college and one of Rikkyo’s exchange partners for the GLAP. The invited professor taught the intensive summer course for 5 days, 17 students, mostly consisting of first and second-year students, were enrolled in the intensive course and it provided an opportunity that was beneficial for the preparation of the GLAP. Moreover, during the annual recruitment event called Open Campus, part of the intensive course was open to visiting high school students to audit and such an experience inspired some of the students to consider applying for the GLAP. It is planned that the University will continue to offer the intensive course in the next academic year and beyond. Since the course was open to the students in all of the existing undergraduate colleges, it could possibly bring the impact of liberal arts education in English to the university-wide level.

- Admission of the Students in International Cooperative Graduate Program
  Based on inter-university partnership agreements with 6 leading universities in Indonesia, in September 2016 the University accepted 3 international students from Indonesia as the first incoming class of the double-degree program, which is the principal cooperation scheme of the International Cooperative Graduate Program.
  The International Cooperative Graduate Program is the degree program that offers Master’s degree in Public Management and Administration (MPMA) and can be completed entirely with courses offered in English. In the process of promoting the program, it was confirmed that a few other emerging nations, in addition to the original target nation of Indonesia, show interest in the program. Thus, the University decided to expand the targets for the program and include the regular applicants in the entrance examination for Fall 2017 admission and started to accept the applications. In addition, with the opening of the ASEAN liaison office, an efficient administrative system is now in place for the recruitment of the second incoming class, communication with partner institutions and the collection of information on the scholarships offered by local governments and the latest trends within the region in sending the students overseas.

- The First Annual Super Global High School (SGH) Student Research Presentation Contest
  The University has strengthened its cooperation with the designated schools of the “Super Global High School” Program in order to recruit prospective students who have qualifications that are in line with the University’s globalization advancement policy. In academic year 2015, the University held “SGH Designated Schools-University Collaborative Research Seminar” which targeted teachers of the SGH-designated schools, offering workshops and information sessions. During the meeting, the teachers requested the University to organize an event to feature student presentations. Hence, in cooperation with Kwansei Gakuin University, which had already organized a similar event in the past, the University held “Super Global High School (SGH) Student Research Presentation Contest,” which was targeted at 39 SGH-designated schools in Kanto, Koushin’etsu and Shizuoka regions.
  On the day of the Contest, approximately 140 students from 13 schools participated and conducted presentations and/or poster sessions either in English or Japanese. 8 faculty members from the University took part in the event as judges. By having hosted the event on campus, the University was given an opportunity to gain insight into the changing reality of high school education today and also how the University should evaluate each applicant’s qualities such as problem-solving skills, cooperativeness and creativity in order to actualize the multi-dimensional admission process. Such comprehension gained by hosting of the event is expected to play a larger role not only in the designing of educational programs and the entrance examination system, but also in the development of the rubric for the GLAP. Lastly, the event also offered the chance for the high school students to experience the type of education and learning offered at the University through the comments and questions given by the University’s faculty members and students.
5. FY2017 Progress

- Common indicators and targets

RU also accepted another group of three international students through the scheme of PHRDP (Professional Human Resource Development Project) by Indonesian government, the scholarship program by local governments, and regular admission by RU. RU’s ASEAN liaison office, which was established in March 2017, communicated with partner institutions, gathering the latest information so that RU may be able to recruit students from Indonesia through collaboration with the local partner institutions.

- Strengthened Collaboration with Indonesia
  RU has strengthened its collaboration with Padjadajaran University (PU), one of RU’s partnership institutions. RU accepted approximately 80 students from PU in July 2017 and January 2018, conducting one-week seminars, in which they learned business, Japanese culture, and business manner. RU also accepted 30 students from PU in September 2017, organizing the event of cultural exchange, where they performed Indonesian folk music instruments RU’s students performed “Wadaiko,” or Japanese drum. This event attracted the audience of approximately 100 students, which contributed to reinforce the cultural bridge between RU and PU.

- Continuing efforts toward Rikuzentakata Project
  RU has been conducting the PBL (Project-based Learning) collaborative field work at Rikuzentakata, Iwate Prefecture in conjunction with Stanford University (SU) since 2015. In September 2017, based at “Rikuzentakata Global Campus,” RU’s 11 students and SU’s seven students worked on the project to promote Rikuzentakata and made a presentation for the Mayor of Rikuzentakata. Thus far, a total of 53 students from both RU and SU have participated in this project.

- Expansion of reciprocal exchange programs and partner institutions
  In 2017, RU sent a record high of 1,300 students overseas (increase by 100 compared to 2016). Furthermore, RU increased the number of its partner institutions to 190, while accepting a record high of 1,183 international students from 52 countries and areas in 2017. RU offered enriched and globalized academic environment, where the students may learn with the people having diverse values and cultural background on and off campus.

- Joining AALAU (Alliance of Asian Liberal Arts Universities)
  In 2017, RU joined the Alliance of Asian Liberal Arts Universities as one of official founding members. The first conference of AALAU was held in November 2017 with representatives of 19 universities from Asia. Its vision, objective, and future goals were discussed.

University reform

- Introduction of “RIKKYO Award for Excellence in Teaching”
  “RIKKYO Award for Excellence in Teaching” was introduced in 2017 as a system to recognize the achievement of faculty members who produced good educational achievements, being creative in educational contents and methods. RU’s Selection Committee awarded 34 faculty members based on the recommendation from each College and Graduate School. Such good practices are being shared throughout RU among faculty and staff.

- Continuation of “Overseas Training Program for Administrative Staff”
  Overseas Training Program for Administrative Staff, which has been conducted since 2014, was held in 2017. Six administrative staff participated in this program. After going through intensive off-campus training at International University of Japan, they went to the United States and visited Montana State University and Columbia University, having meetings with faculty and staff.

- Introduction of e-Portfolio system
  In April 2017, RU introduced its e-Portfolio system for all undergraduate students. The system allows them to accumulate their academic achievement as well as curricular and extra-curricular activities. This system also allows them to reflect on their academic goals and progress.

- Renewal of RU English website
  In March 2018, RU renewed its English website. The renewal was thoroughly done, and more information became available in English, which contributed to enhance overseas publicity.

Education reform

- Expansion of external standardized tests of English for entrance exam
  In order to accept more students who are proficient in English, RU began to accept the External Standardized Tests of English (ESTE) that evaluates four key competencies for entrance exam in 2016. For admission in 2018, RU began to use its test scores for the “Admission accepting the score of National Center Test for University Admissions”. RU received a total of 2,675 applicants (record high) for “Global Type” in General Admission, which was introduced in 2016. Also the university admission quota for the admissions using ESTE scores turned out to be a record high of 901 students and 17 times compared to 2013.

- RSL-Project Planning launched
  In 2017, RSL (Rikkyo Service Learning) Center began to offer its new curricular program, “RSL-Project Planning” so that the students may study in nine fields in and out of Japan. Seven students participated in the program and studied social entrepreneurship in Indonesia.
University's own indicators and targets

- TOEIC CLUB 900
  The number of Japanese students with a high score of over 900 on TOEIC have been increasing due to RU’s utilization of the external standardized test scores of English for entrance exam. Also more students are motivated to study abroad. 239 students scored over 900 on TOEIC in 2017 (increase by 89 compared to 2016). RU plans to conduct language education reform, where the students may continuously learn and improve English.

- More administrative staff capable of handling international affairs
  As the number of international students and faculty members is increasing, there are more situations for administrative staff to deal with them in English. As a result of RU's efforts to offer a number of opportunities for them to go overseas including "Study Abroad Fair" and "Personnel Training," the number of such staff who have been overseas and versed in international affairs increased by 193, which is two times compared to 2014. Thus, RU’s foundation for global personnel training was reinforced.

Featured initiatives based on the characteristics of the university

- GLAP (Global Liberal Arts Program) launched
  In 2017, RU officially launched an English-taught degree program, GLAP, having accepted 23 students.

  Classes: GLAP offers liberal arts subjects fully in English, providing “Tutorial” with a maximum of five students per class so that they may acquire fundamental academic skills. Detailed guidance was given and ideal global academic environment was set up.

  RU held its cultural event, “Global Festa” in May and October 2017 to promote the opportunities to study abroad. Approximately 1,500 students showed up at the event and the number of the participants increased significantly compared to previous years. Global Festa in May was particularly designed for the first year students, which contributed to motivate them to consider study abroad at an early stage of their campus life.

- Establishment of “Rikuzentakata Global Campus”
  In April 2017, RU and Iwate University (IU) jointly established “Rikuzentakata Global Campus (RTGC)” in Rikuzentakata, Iwate Prefecture. RTGC plans to be utilized as the “hub” of place for exchange with local people, students, and researchers from Japan as well as overseas. RU organized a variety of programs related to reconstruction from the natural disasters including earthquake and tsunami as well as international cooperation.

- Promotion of globalization to local community through short-term intensive Japanese program

In 2017, RU began to provide the “home visit” program for them, which is a part of regional collaboration under the cooperation of the City of Niiza. In this program, they visited Japanese family for one day and experienced daily life with them, which contributed to promote globalization to local community.
6. FY2018 Progress

- Common indicators and targets

Internationalization

- Development of International Cooperative Graduate Program
  In September 2018, Rikkyo University (RU) accepted 13 international students from Indonesia as the third group through the scheme of International Cooperative Graduate Program. Since the program started in September 2016, RU has accepted a total of 35 international students from Indonesia, Vietnam, Nepal, Zambia and Benin. Most of the graduates went back to their home countries to go back to work again at the government, and they made a further contribution to their countries’ development, having gained their expertise. RU’s ASEAN liaison office works closely with RU’s partner institutions in Indonesia to recruit students from Indonesia. Furthermore, RU accepted totally 72 students from Padjadjaran University, one of RU’s partners in Indonesia, in July 2018 and January 2019, while conducting a one-week seminar in RU, where they studied business and Japanese language. Those activities have strengthened us to form a solid collaboration each other.

- Collaboration with overseas institutions for Rikuzentakata Project
  RU has been conducting a PBL (Project-based Learning) collaborative field work in Rikuzentakata, Iwate Prefecture, where participants learn “Reconstruction from Earthquake and Tsunami”, in conjunction with Stanford University since 2015. In 2018, another RU’s partner, the University of Hong Kong joined this program, and a total of 22 students from three universities worked together for this project. In addition, National University of Singapore will participate in this program in 2019. Through this PBL program, RU provides our students an opportunity to collaborate with the students from overseas. This is such a valuable opportunity for young people from overseas to learn how to recover and reconstruct from the loss by the earthquake and tsunami.

- Expansion of study abroad programs and strengthening management system for overseas emergency
  In 2018, RU sent a record high of 1,400 students overseas through a variety of study abroad programs organized by RU (increase by 100 compared to 2017). With the increase in number of students who participated in study abroad programs, RU introduced the security services for overseas emergency throughout the university in 2018 to ensure students’ safety and strengthen the RU’s crisis management system.

- Collaborative Agreement with Chinese Academic Network
  In 2018, RU signed the collaborative agreement with Chinese Academic Network and became an official member, which gives RU an access to recruit qualified Chinese students for undergraduate programs. 60 prestigious high schools in Shanghai area offering their courses in Japanese join this network, and through this network, RU may be able to build a relationship with the members and enhance RU’s publicity to Shanghai area.

University reform

- Reinforcement of international student’s acceptance system
  In 2018, RU accepted a record high of 1,284 international students. In order to deal with the increase in number throughout the university, RU reinforced the system to accept international students, improving the system of registration for international students and their placement in each academic department. In 2018, RU conducted eight short-term intensive programs, accepting 210 international students. RU reformed the system to provide them official student status, setting up the system of processing the fees to be allocated for each academic department, which becomes an incentive to continue accepting international students in RU’s all academic departments.

- Continuation of “Overseas Training Program for Administrative Staff”
  Overseas Training Program for Administrative Staff was held in 2018, in which six staff members participated. After going through intensive off-campus training at International University of Japan, they traveled to the United States, visiting RU’s partners, Kent State University and Columbia University for one week. They had a productive meeting with faculty and staff.

- Creation of film to recruit prospective international students
  In 2018, RU created and uploaded film for prospective international students to promote RU and campus location through the English Website.

- International Symposium related to Regular International Students
  In January 2019, RU hosted international symposium on the theme of accepting regular international students. RU presented our strategic plans and issues to accept more international students. Guest speakers from China, Vietnam, Indonesia, and Russia introduced their own country’s educational system of Japanese language education, their high school student’s interest in studying abroad in Japan and issues when they study in Japan, where all the participants had a chance to discuss the topics. RU, through this symposium, promoted RU’s good practices and support services for international students to the participants from Japan and overseas, also sharing updated information of studying in Japan with all participants.

Education reform

- Expansion of external standardized tests of English for entrance exam
  In order to accept more students who are proficient in English, RU began to accept the External Standardized Tests of English (ESTE) that evaluates four key competencies for entrance exam in 2016. For admission in 2018, RU began to use its test scores for the “Admission accepting the score of National Center Test for University Admissions”. RU received a total of 4,900 applicants for the entrance exam in 2018. Also RU received 2,061 applicants for “Global Type” in General Admission in 2018. The total number of admission quota by the entrance exam using its test score turned out to be 1,503.
University’s own indicators and targets

Global competency in education
“Global competency in education” is RU’s own standard based on the total number of transferred credits between RU and partner institutions from Japan and overseas. RU intends to expand the total number to enhance Global competency in education, promoting further student’s exchange programs with partner institutions overseas. The total number did increase to 6,573 credits in 2018 through the expansion of the partner institutions overseas (note: 4,000 credits in 2014).

Enhanced global awareness
“Enhancement of global awareness” is RU’s own standard based on the total annual number of cross-cultural experience hours for each student at RU. In 2018, RU held two Global Weeks to promote study abroad, attracting more than 4,000 students to participate in the events. In addition, far more students participate in a number of cross-cultural events regularly held as well as study abroad programs. This indicates the enhancement of global awareness among RU’s students. The total number in 2014 was 68 hours and jumped to 110 hours in 2018.

Featured initiatives based on the characteristics of the university

GLAP (Global Liberal Arts Program)
RU officially launched an English-taught undergraduate program, Global Liberal Arts Program (GLAP), accepted 19 students as a second group for the program in 2018, conducted the following:
Study abroad to partner institutions:
GLAP students are required to study abroad for one academic year at partner institutions (e.g. Liberal Arts College). In fall 2018, 16 GLAP students left for their destination to study abroad.

Meet Up Session:
In April 2018, GLAP program offered two-day orientation program for freshman, “Meet Up Session,” so that they may get to know each other well and prepare better for GLAP. This program was held to enhance GLAP student’s motivation and also to learn basis for liberal arts as well as effective presentation skills using E-portfolio.

Classes:
GLAP offers a number of global liberal arts subjects and summer intensive courses taught by Visiting Professor from Trinity University in the United States, GLAP’s partner institution. This educational opportunity has become available to all RU’s students.

Strengthened publicity:
RU regularly uploaded the information of GLAP’s curriculum and students’ report describing their campus life in Japanese and English through the GLAP official Facebook.

Global Liberal Arts Minor
RU began its course registration for Global Liberal Arts Minor in 2017 for all undergraduate students, who have been admitted in 2016. 541 students among those students registered to enroll either “Arts & Science Course; Eight themes” or “Language & Culture Course; Eight themes.” In 2018, RU started to offer another course, “Discipline Course,” (based on each College’s specialization) under which there are two themes, “Teaching Japanese as a Foreign Language Course” and “Data Science.” RU aims to provide more “Discipline Course” offered by each College and expand the minor options for more students. RU reconstructed to improve the registration timing as well as its system in order to expand the number of enrollments for the minors. RU continues to establish new courses in order to further increase the number of Global Liberal Arts Minor’s enrollment.

In March 2019, RU organized the symposium related SDGs at RTGC and provided the opportunity to think about sustainable development goals in global and local levels with the participants.
5. FY2019 Progress

Common indicators and targets

Internationalization

- Development of International Cooperative Graduate Program
  In September 2019, Rikkyo University (RU) accepted 16 international students as the fourth group through the scheme of International Cooperative Graduate Program. Since the program started in September 2016, RU has accepted a total of 47 international students from Indonesia, Vietnam, Nepal, Zambia, Benin, and the Philippines. Most of the graduates went back to their home countries to be engaged with their work at the government. It is expected that they will make a great contribution to their countries’ development after gaining and deepening their expertise. RU’s ASEAN liaison office works closely with our partner institutions in Indonesia to recruit qualified students from Indonesia. Graduate School of Social Design Studies has decided to participate in this program in September 2021, establishing a new program in English (Public Social Design) and accepting international students. The school started to promote their program especially among partner institutions and prepare for admission.

- Development of Short-term Japanese Program
  The Short-Term Intensive Japanese Program, which began in AY 2016, accepted a total of 17 students in two sessions during its initial year. We have brushed up the contents and expanded the scale of the program, which has been held three times per year since AY 2019. In total, 120 students from all over the world participated in this program. In this three-week program, students learn Japanese, while also attending lectures on Japanese Culture and Society and participating in field trips. The feedback from participants has been very positive, and the program has expanded since AY 2018, when we started to accept a group of students from the University of Sydney. This program, while providing exchange opportunities among students, has also played a strategic role to balance the deficit of student exchange with partner universities.

- Development of New Admission System for Degree-seeking International Students
  In Academic Year 2019, RU set up a working group consisting of faculty and staff, which was headed by the Vice President for International Advancement, and began to prepare for the introduction of a university-wide system to develop new curricula and entrance examination systems that will allow for the admission of more qualified degree-seeking undergraduate international students, primarily from countries and regions in Asia. In addition to the English-track program, we plan to establish other programs, in which students learn Japanese intensively after entering the university and then proceed to existing undergraduate curricula. Under the new entrance examination system, we aim to review the applications all year around to recruit more students from all over the world. We currently prepare to start accepting students under this new system in September 2022. We expect this initiative to contribute to further strengthen internationalization of the university as a whole, because this new admission system, which does not require Japanese ability for admission, will attract more outstanding international students. Also, it is expected that this initiative may contribute to increase the awareness of diversity on campus.

University reform

- Formulation of Rikkyo Global Strategy 2.0
  As we had a new President in AY 2018, RU enacted a mid-term plan, the Basic Concept for Comprehensive Development, in which the Rikkyo Global Strategy 2.0 was created as the core objectives in the area of international advancement. Vice President for International Advancement was put in charge of its execution to further develop the strategy and the vision of Top Global Universities Project based on the ongoing Rikkyo Global 24 internationalization strategy. In AY 2019, RU’s plan was carried out as originally planned, setting up specific action plans and key performance indicators (KPI) for each component of the plan to materialize this vision.

- English Translation of Syllabi
  In AY 2019, RU translated the syllabi into English for all the courses offered by the Colleges (including the University-Wide Curriculum) and Graduate Schools (some doctoral courses are excluded), eventually uploading those on RU’s website. This initiative has brought us benefit to strengthen admission, publicizing our educational contents to the rest of the world. In future, while we continue to improve the syllabus format, we also work on credit compatibility to make it easily available with universities overseas. We will also continue to internationalize RU’s academic affairs system.

Education reform

- Expansion of external standardized tests of English for entrance exam
  In order to recruit more students who are proficient in English, RU began to accept the External Standardized Tests of English (ESTE) that evaluates four key competencies for entrance exam in 2016. For admission in 2018, RU began to use its test scores for the “Admission accepting the score of National Center Test for University Admissions”, The total number of admission quota by the entrance exam using its test score turned out to be 1,601. RU has made a decision to discontinue RU’s own English exam in the General Admission in AY 2021, replacing it with ESTE (Note: College of Arts still conducts its own English exam for selected exam dates). Thus, RU’s English exams for admission will be basically conducted by ESTE in AY 2021, and it is most likely that more students with higher command of English, who will meet our English standard, along with our linguistic education reform by the new curriculum of English in AY 2020 may apply for RU.
University's own indicators and targets

- Development of Global Competencies Rubric and Implementation of Self-evaluation
  Global Competencies (critical thinking, innovation, and empathy & cooperation) are defined as the abilities to be achieved by "Global leaders who can think and act independently and live in harmony with the world," which is Rikkyo's model of individuals under the TGU Project. In AY 2019, we developed our own Learning Outcomes Rubric, which organizes the acquisition of those competencies into the Five Levels (five being the highest). Using the Rikkyo Jikan e-portfolio system, students registered in the Rikkyo Minor Program and GLAP students performed their self-evaluations. The results indicated that 36.0% students had achieved an average of Level Four or above on the rubric. Thus, we found that we have been able to establish a mechanism to visualize the learning outcomes of students with regard to the initiatives conducted under this plan.

- Featured initiatives based on the characteristics of the university
  - GLAP (Global Liberal Arts Program) RU officially launched an English-taught undergraduate program, Global Liberal Arts Program (GLAP), having accepted 21 students as a third group for the program in 2019, conducted the following:
    - Study abroad to partner institutions: GLAP students are required to study abroad for one academic year at partner Institutions, where liberal arts education is primarily conducted. In fall 2019, 17 GLAP students were sent to their destination to be engaged in studying abroad. GLAP has signed agreements with 25 partner institutions around the world (as of August 2020).
    - Classes: Students in the GLAP worked on the Tutorial (a method of intensive learning in a small class environment), in which the class is conducted by five or less students, and they selected one concentration in the three specialized areas, Humanities, Citizenship, and Business after returning from a full-year studying abroad. GLAP has been playing a leading and distinguished role at RU. As the year progresses, GLAP begins to offer the Global Studies Electives, which are offered as the electives for GLAP students. In addition, those courses are made available for the rest of the students, which is of great benefit to all the students at RU,
    - Faculty Development:
      FD session was conducted by a visiting professor from RU’s partner university, Trinity University (Texas, USA) under the theme of how to make students understand the importance of liberal arts education and motivate them to study. Faculty members from GLAP as well as other departments participated in the session and discussed voluntary and active learning, in which a number of academic insights from global perspectives were shared among RU’s faculty and staff.
  - Rikkyo Minor Program
    To increase the number of students registered in the Rikkyo Minor Program, which began in AY 2016, we have been working on the course registration period and registration process since AY 2018, and the number of students registered was found to have increased significantly to 9,500 (as of June 2020). Moreover, for AY 2020 and beyond, we have decided to establish the three themes, Global Leadership, International Cooperation, and Experience Opportunities in Institutions, where liberal arts education is primarily conducted. In fall 2019, 17 GLAP students were sent to their destination to be engaged in studying abroad. GLAP has signed agreements with 25 partner institutions around the world (as of August 2020).
    - Study abroad to partner institutions: GLAP students are required to study abroad for one academic year at partner Institutions, where liberal arts education is primarily conducted. In fall 2019, 17 GLAP students were sent to their destination to be engaged in studying abroad. GLAP has signed agreements with 25 partner institutions around the world (as of August 2020).
    - Classes: Students in the GLAP worked on the Tutorial (a method of intensive learning in a small class environment), in which the class is conducted by five or less students, and they selected one concentration in the three specialized areas, Humanities, Citizenship, and Business after returning from a full-year studying abroad. GLAP has been playing a leading and distinguished role at RU. As the year progresses, GLAP begins to offer the Global Studies Electives, which are offered as the electives for GLAP students. In addition, those courses are made available for the rest of the students, which is of great benefit to all the students at RU,
    - Faculty Development:
      FD session was conducted by a visiting professor from RU’s partner university, Trinity University (Texas, USA) under the theme of how to make students understand the importance of liberal arts education and motivate them to study. Faculty members from GLAP as well as other departments participated in the session and discussed voluntary and active learning, in which a number of academic insights from global perspectives were shared among RU’s faculty and staff.

- Participation in the KAKEHASHI Project
  In March 2020, 23 students from RU were sent to visit the United States (Washington D.C. and Virginia) as part of the KAKEHASHI Project under the Japan’s Friendship Ties Programs by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Japan (MOFA). In AY 2019, RU was selected by MOFA as an institution for the project as the counterpart of our US partner institution, Randolph-Macon College. The contents of the program had to be adjusted because of the global pandemic, but our students travelled safely to the United States, in which they visited the Embassy of Japan and several Japanese companies in the vicinity of Washington, D.C., taking part in discussions on the history of Japanese Americans and attending lectures on political systems in Japan and the United States. The participants worked on uploading their experience on Instagram to disseminate it, which greatly contributed to showcase the attractive aspects of Japan and RU.

Common indicators and targets

Internationalization

Rikkyo Study Project launched as new admissions for Degree-seeking international students

In order to start the Rikkyo Study Project (RSP), new admissions for degree-seeking international students in September 2022, the working group organized in Academic Year 2019 and chaired by Vice President for International Advancement discussed the detailed framework of the project and specific proposals made by the working group relating to the entrance examination system, curriculum, scholarships, dormitories, etc. were further discussed and approved. This system is centered on the establishment of the two new programs: the PEACE Program, which offers courses taught entirely in English, and the NEXt generation for Unity & Solidarity (NEXUS) Program, in which the students undertake intensive Japanese study after being admitted. With regard to the entrance examination system in particular, we have designed the system of admissions, in which the students are not required to travel to Japan to take the entrance exam, and successfully reached the agreements with eight high schools in Hawaii, Indonesia, Mongolia, Hong Kong, and Taiwan (as of the end of July 2021) for direct admissions and have also started publicizing the entrance examination externally by opening the PEACE Program recruitment website (April 2021). This system is expected to contribute to the internationalization of the university as a whole by making it possible to admit excellent international students whose Japanese-language proficiency may not be high at the time of application.

Online study abroad programs conducted

In Academic Year 2020, the impact of the COVID-19 outbreak limited the opportunities for a number of study abroad programs that involve international travel. In spite of this situation, the students remained highly enthusiastic about studying abroad, and we offered various online programs such as overseas internships, the Rikuzentakata Project carried out jointly by Rikkyo University, Stanford University, and the University of Hong Kong, short-term language training, joint classes with partner universities, and online information sessions and exchange meetings with partner universities in GLAP, in which a total of 113 students participated. In anticipation of prolonged effects from the COVID-19 pandemic, we are also taking steps to offer as many opportunities as possible to study abroad in Academic Year 2021, such as reviewing the restrictions and criteria for sending the students to study abroad and providing more online study abroad programs.

Development of International Cooperative Graduate Program and Student Recruitment for a New Program (MSDA)

In Academic Year 2020, when the international cooperative graduate program celebrated its 5th anniversary, Rikkyo University (RU) accepted 13 new international students. So far, RU has accepted a total of 60 international students from Indonesia, Vietnam, the Philippines, Nepal, Zambia, Benin, etc., utilizing Indonesia Professional Human Resource Development Program (PHRDP) or JICA’s scholarship programs. As for the international students, who have been unable to travel to Japan due to the adjustments with the ASEAN Overseas Office and local universities caused by COVID-19, RU provided an appropriate support for them, so that they may be successfully accepted every year. Graduate School of Social Design Studies will a new program, Master of Social Development and Administrative Course in September 2021.

Entrance exam was conducted in May 2021, and 7 students will enroll at the program in September 2021.

University reform

Advisory Committee makes recommendations in the Second Interim Evaluation Report

In the Activities Report from the Advisory Committee meeting held in March 2021, it was reported that, based on the recommendations of the previous year’s Advisory Committee, this year’s activities focused on the following two areas: 1) increasing the number of students registered for the Rikkyo Minor Program and setting topics that make use of the university’s unique characteristics, and 2) making active use of external standardized English tests in the entrance exams. In addition, it also made a report on the results of the second interim evaluation of this project. The committee members, in light of the fact that the result of the evaluation was an A, recommended that the following four points be considered: 1) strengthening the outreach to Asia and Africa, 2) reviewing the content of education with a view to the post-COVID era using online education, 3) establishing the fields of study that are unique strengths to Rikkyo, and 4) reviewing the action plan to achieve the target values. They also suggested that the reforms be carried out with an awareness of developments after the completion of this project.

English-language Website Overhauled

In March 2018, RU completely overhauled the English-language version of the university website to increase the amount of information published in English and enhance overseas public relations. In April 2021, RU launched a website to recruit students for the previously mentioned new system for regular international students (RSP), thereby increasing the amount of information published in English and enhancing our overseas public relations.

Education reform

External Standardized Tests of English for the Entrance Exams

In order to recruit more students who are proficient in English, RU has been expanding the system of entrance exams to use the external standardized tests of English (ESTE) which evaluates four essential skills. RU introduced the system to use the results of ESTE for the entrance exams which use the National Common Test for University Admissions. Consequently, the total number of enrollment limit allocated for the use of ESTE in Academic Year 2020 was a record high of 1,986 people. Beginning with the entrance exams in Academic Year 2021, RU discontinued its own English exams for the General Admissions and fully introduced ESTE to its entrance exams. Thus, in RU’s entrance exams, ESTE was fully introduced to the University. In addition, RU has been engaged in its linguistic educational reform which includes the increase of the courses to be taught in English since Academic Year 2020, it is expected that more students with high command of English may apply for admissions at RU.
University's own indicators and targets

TOEIC CLUB 900 (Indicator 2)

Due to the full incorporation of English standardized tests into the entrance exams and the increase in the number of students who are highly enthusiastic about studying abroad from the time they enter the university, the number of students with excellent language skills, achieving a TOEIC score of 900 or above, has been increasing. In Academic Year 2020, such students numbered 392. In addition, with the new English curriculum introduced this year, we will build a system, in which the students engage in ongoing language learning, enabling them to improve their language skills even though COVID-19 has restricted the opportunities for overseas experience.

Featured initiatives based on the characteristics of the university

Global Liberal Arts Program (GLAP)

Four years after its establishment in Academic Year 2017, GLAP (a program that enables students to obtain a degree by taking the classes that are entirely conducted in English) began accepting 18 fourth-year students in Academic Year 2020, and the following initiatives were carried out.

- Class of 2017 (first group of GLAP) graduates

  In March, the program marked its first graduation, for the 18 students who joined the program as the first-years student in Academic Year 2017. In their fourth year, the students had the opportunity to study with other undergraduates in the three specialized fields (Humanities, Citizenship, and Business) that they choose after returning from their study abroad, extending the benefits of GLAP to the entire university. In the “Final Year Seminar,” a compulsory subject in the fourth year, students wrote a graduation paper under the guidance of instructors in their respective specialized fields.

- Online classes taken after returning from study abroad

  GLAP requires the students to start studying abroad in the fall semester of their second year. However, due to the COVID-19 outbreak, all of the current third-year 18 students had to return home partway through their study period. After returning to Japan, all of them chose to take online classes of the universities where they studied abroad, earning the credits by taking online classes of the universities in the United States, Canada, the Netherlands, Italy, Greece, and Norway.

Leadership Education expands throughout the university

In Academic Year 2020, a total of 535 students took part in the Global Leadership Program (Rikkyo GLP) which provides all undergraduate students with leadership education, one of the distinctive features of the education Rikkyo offers. The Japanese foundational leadership subject GL101 was offered to a record 15 classes (capacity 300 students), with 903 applicants and 300 participants. Meanwhile, 37 students took the English foundational leadership subject GL111, meaning that both classes set records for the number of participants. In addition, there were 103 applicants and 36 participants for GL102, in which students learn theories and skills for exercising leadership for themselves and others through practical activities that go beyond the regular curriculum. For GL103, meanwhile, in which the students learn communication theories and skills for exercising leadership in a global environment, 110 students applied and 40 students participated. With various opportunities restricted due to the COVID-19 outbreak, the Rikkyo GLP classes served both as an opportunity for students to learn theories and skills to put into practice overseas, and as a learning opportunity for students unable to travel abroad, including diversity and cross-cultural experiences.

New Themes for RU Minor Program Offered

To increase the number of students who register for the RU Minor Program, which began in Academic Year 2016, RU has been working on improving the course registration period and registration process since Academic Year 2018, and the number of students who registered for the program was found to have significantly increased to 1,238 (as of June 2021). Since Academic Year 2020, the following new three themes: “Global Leadership (minor for GLP course),” “International Cooperation (English course for international cooperation human resources)” and “Experience Opportunities in Japan for International Students (course for international students which includes internship in Japan)” were offered, and a total of the 3 courses and 21 themes are being expanded. In Academic Year 2020, 86 students completed this minor program. In future, RU will continue to work on increasing the number of students to complete this program by holding information session regularly for students to notify them of what they will be able to study in each theme and further promoting this program via students who completed this program.

Opportunities for on-campus international exchange provided through the Global Lounge and other online services

Regarding the on-campus international exchange events held at the Global Lounge and other venues in regular years, 432 online events were held in Academic Year 2020, with a cumulative total of over 3,300 students which includes international students participated. These events were designed to increase the motivation of students facing a variety of circumstances, such as those whose study abroad was cancelled or those who were starting preparations for study abroad in the future. By holding these events, we were able to promote cross-cultural understanding and exchange among students in an online environment, and improve their motivation to engage in international exchange.
9. FY2021 Progress

■ Common indicators and targets

Internationalization

- Development of International Cooperative Graduate Program and Acceptance of Students to a New Program (MSDA)

The international cooperative graduate program, which was established in 2016, has thus far accepted 78 international students from such countries as Indonesia, Vietnam, the Philippines, Nepal, Zambia, Benin, etc., while utilizing Indonesia Professional Human Resource Development Program (PHRDP) or JICA’s scholarship programs. As for the international students, who have been unable to travel to Japan due to the adjustments with the ASEAN Overseas Office and local universities or COVID-19, Rikkyo University (RU) has provided an appropriate support for them to take online classes, so that they may be steadily accepted every year. Graduate School of Social Design Studies started to accept new students in September 2021, and seven students from Mozambique, Burundi, Gambia, Namibia, Samoa, and China have enrolled in the program.

- Rikkyo Study Project, a new admissions scheme to accept international degree-seeking students from all over the world

In order to start the Rikkyo Study Project (RSP), a new admissions scheme for degree-seeking international students in September 2022, RU conducted the entrance exams for students who have been recommended by partner high schools and who applied via general entrance exam. RU also put together curriculum, scholarships, dormitories, etc. to embody them in the system and will admit five students in September, 2022. This system is centered on the establishment of the two new programs: the PEACE Program, which offers courses taught entirely in English, and the NEXT generation for Unity & Solidarity (NEXUS) Program, in which the students undertake intensive Japanese study after being admitted. In terms of student recruitment, because RU could not send anyone overseas due to the epidemic of COVID-19, RU held virtual information sessions for partner high schools in USA, Hong Kong, and Mongolia. This system is expected to contribute to the internationalization of the university as a whole by making it possible to admit excellent international students whose Japanese-language proficiency may not be high at the time of application.

- Promoting study abroad program in COVID-19 pandemic via overseas trips and online

Continuously in 2021, due to the impact of COVID-19 outbreak, the opportunities of a number of study abroad programs entailing overseas trips were restricted. In spite of such a situation, the students remained highly keen to study abroad, and RU continued to gather updated information and make preparations for overseas trips. Some programs including student exchange and language training programs via overseas trips were resumed, sending 177 students. Also, RU offered various online programs such as overseas internships, the Rikuzentakata Project carried out jointly by Rikkyo University, Stanford University, and the University of Hong Kong, and short-term language training programs, and a total of 135 students participated in those programs. In 2022, it is most likely that overseas trips would be possible in response to the relaxation of restricted overseas trips to a number of countries, and RU makes progress to offer opportunities of study abroad for students as many as possible, while making an effort to secure safety.

University reform

- Organizing management structure and continued structure of international cooperative graduate program

In September 2021, RU established the MSDA Course in the Graduate School of Social Design Studies and managed classes in English and provided paper instructions, while making preparations for the system to respond to the double-degree system in Indonesia. Because the management will be jointly conducted by the MPMA Course of Graduate School of Business and other Graduate Schools, RU created a new structure to operate for two Graduate Schools to cooperate with each other, conducting an efficient management. Based on RU’s experience to have accepted students for six years since the start of the program and examining the objectives and effect of this project and continued structure of management in addition to checking the balance of budget, RU will be able to continue the management structure autonomously even after TGU project is terminated.

Education reform

- Development of new English curricula

RU launched new English curricula in 2010, in which people having a variety of background in Japan are expected to work together in English and have skills to solve issues. RU’s curricula put more emphasis on four skills of English, focusing on not only “reading” and “listening” but “writing” and “speaking,” which require the skill of output. RU established anew “English debate” as a compulsory course for the first-year student. Another feature for new curricula is structure to “study major fields in English.” In addition to enhancing “undergraduate EMI courses” in which major courses are offered in English, RU offers “CLIL courses,” in which coursework and language learning are combined as the preliminary step to enhance steadily the skills of English throughout four years.
Full introduction of external standardized tests to general entrance exam
In order to recruit more students who are proficient in English, RU has been expanding the system of entrance exams to use the external standardized tests of English (ESTE) which evaluates four essential skills since 2016 and has been introducing the National Common Test for University Admissions and Special Admissions. Beginning with the entrance exams in 2021, RU discontinued its own English exams for the General Admissions and fully introduced ESTE to its entrance exams. Thus, in RU's entrance exams, ESTE was fully introduced to the University, through which a number of students who fulfill the language standards for this project are expected to increase in combination with English curricula after enrollment.

TOEIC CLUB 900 (Indicator 2)
Due to the full incorporation of English standardized tests into the entrance exams and the increase in the number of students who are highly enthusiastic about studying abroad from the time they enter the university, the number of students with excellent language skills, achieving a TOEIC score of 900 or above, has been increasing, and in 2021, such students numbered 422. In addition, RU will construct the system to enhance language skills through providing continued learning opportunities by the new English curricula previously mentioned.

Featured initiatives based on the characteristics of the university

Conducting short-term Japanese language program via online
Due to the impact of COVID-19 pandemic, a number of study abroad program entailing overseas trips were restricted and the short-term Japanese language program was impacted in the same way. RU was making progress of the program via online in 2020, so the program was conducted three times in summer and winter in 2021. A total of 28 students mainly from partner universities were accepted, providing online program. In conducting the online program, RU managed the program, in which students from their countries will be able to participate by adjusting the time of classes in light of time difference.

Global Liberal Arts Program (GLAP)
Five years after its establishment in 2017, GLAP, a program that enables students to obtain a degree by taking the classes that are entirely conducted in English, began accepting 24 students in 2021, and the following initiatives were carried out.

Providing leadership education in English
"GL101"and "GL202", in which leadership education (one of RU’s features in education) is taught in English are offered in GLAP’s curricula as compulsory courses and are available to the students from other colleges and international students. In 2021, 51 students registered "GL111" (foundation course for leadership in English), whose number greatly exceeded 37 in 2020. GLAP students facilitated the classes as student assistant and played a crucial role in the meeting of class development and management to be done by faculty and staff and student assistants, contributing largely to developing leadership education to all colleges and fulfilling educational contents.

Sending the students of study abroad in the pandemic of COVID-19
GLAP requires the students to study abroad from fall semester of their second year. In 2021, Study Abroad 1-2, which was suspended due to the pandemic of COVID-19, was carried out and 10 students from 21 (3rd year students) and 3 students from 18 (4th year students), who were supposed to be sent in 2020, were sent overseas. Their destinations of study abroad were 5 countries and areas (USA, Canada, the Netherland, Greek, and Hong Kong). In the preparation of study abroad, RU provided the support including the COVID-19 vaccination and measures in the countries, where students would be sent. RU also worked closely with partner universities to check the status of COVID-19 before and after their students are sent.

Providing opportunities of international exchange on-campus via online in the Global Lounge
RU provided opportunities of international exchange on campus via online continuously in 2021. Because some student exchanges were resumed in spring 2021 and it looks likely that study abroad programs to the world would be resumed soon, RU held an event, "Study Abroad Week (under the theme of overseas experience under corona and after corona)," in which students will be offered information to consider studying abroad that may be suitable for their needs. Talks by RU’s graduate who experienced study abroad and a simulated online lecture by professor from overseas were held to offer online events of study abroad and international exchange from a variety of perspectives. Besides, international exchange events with international students were planned, and 246 online events were carried out in 2021, in which a total of 2,400 students (including international students) participated. By conducting those events, RU successfully promoted understanding cross-cultural understanding and encouraged the students to participate in international exchanges.
