In my lecture I briefly introduced my home country (Germany) and described my academic journey (from the Netherlands, to the United Kingdom, Israel, and Japan). Then I introduced some of the major topics on Psychology to the students. This involved video demonstrations of famous psychological experiments as well as introducing famous researchers and findings (e.g. classical conditioning). I then went into more detail on neuroscience and psychophysiology. I conducted a demonstration of a physiological experiment and showed a live recording of measures of the autonomic nervous system of myself (e.g. Sweat, breathing, & heart-rate).
