- Lecture summary (講演概要): Please summary your lecture 200-500 words.
This presentation adopted a seminar style and was aided by a Power Point presentation. It contained four parts. The first one explained the case of cities of developing countries and the challenges that climate change and increasing urbanisation brings to these countries. It also introduced the Peruvian case, where the main urban and environmental issues of the country were detailed explained. The second part developed the role of social science research in addressing urban issues, sharing some of my motivations for being involved in urban and planning research. The third part gave some insights into my current research conducted as part of the JSPS fellowship. It mostly centred on the theoretical and methodological aspects. Finally, the fourth part explained issues of public space provision in the Japanese case, reviewing the specific cases of Minato Mirai and Tokyo Olympic City 2020.
In general, I can say the students demonstrated interest in both, the presentation and even more, during the Q&A section. I was very pleased in receiving some very interesting questions, which showed to a certain extent that my main message was accurately conveyed. I can also affirm that this type of exchange with high school students served very much to re-phrase the main message of my research in lay terms. Finally, I must say that this programme is an excellent opportunity to get in close contact with other levels of education in Japan.
